

C6. Commission on Biological Physics – Report to the IUPAP General Assembly

During the International conference in Biological Physics, the C6 commission has decided to sponsor the following names to be chosen during the next General Assembly as new members for the C6 Biological. We want to highlight that the choices of president, vice-president and secretary have been made with the goal of having the best people to help Prof. Ou-Yang in the organization of the next International conference in Biological Physics.

The last conference in San Diego had a remarkable success and the current commission has chosen the best names to ensure total success in the future conference in China. The organization of the international conference is the main activity of this commission. Biological Physics is a growing and very successful field and the IUPAP conference has played a major role in integrating the physics community in this field and has been a marker in identifying the current status of this field.
